People's manifesto for Rajasthan being prepared

3,000 civic organisations to take part in the drive in Rajasthan

HT Correspondent

This people's manifesto will represent the voice of dalits, vulnerable communities, farmers, tribal, women and children and impose a duty on the candidate to ensure fulfillment of each and every demand mentioned.

Dr Alok Vyas of Research and Policy Unit of CECOEDCON said that 35 civil society organisations of the state have come together to develop the people's manifesto.

The process is being undertaken to enable various sections to voice their demands for the concerns across constituencies. "Access to drinking water and irrigation is the most imminent need of the people in the area. Also the declining girl child and sex ratio was a major concern."

The Abhiyan's spokes person said that the all-India people's manifesto aims to facilitate a systematic process of engagement with political parties at the state and national levels to integrate people's priorities.

The presentation of the local manifesto to current and potential elected representatives during the course of the local hear-

About the 'All India People's Manifesto'

The All India People's Manifesto is a first-of-its-kind effort to create a national agenda through a localized process of consultation and dialogue. Through this initiative, local groups and civil society organizations across parliamentary constituencies have come together to create a 10-point development agenda for each constituency. This effort was conceived with the purpose of inspiring people to engage with the national elections as an opportunity not only to cast their vote, but also voice their demands for the future agenda of the country.

Over 400,000 people from all walks of life have been engaged in the consultations held in 365 parliamentary constituencies across 29 States / UTs as part of this process, making it the most extensive pre-election campaign organized by civil society in recent times. For instance, over five thousand people attended the Public Hearing held in Gondia-Bhandara constituency of Maharashtra. In Kurnool (Andhra), presentations were made by Youth and Student Associations, Teachers' Federations, Advocates, Senior Citizens, SHG members, NGOs and Professional associations. Panchayat members, Members of Legislative Assembly and local office bearers of political parties have also attended the public hearings held across constituencies.

Local Manifestos have been developed through a two-stage process that includes in the first stage, public

"People have not only welcomed this effort but also demanded this exercise should be done on a continuous basis.

This process has reinstated their role in the political process of the country. The demands made in the public meetings reflect the people's need for participation in the governance system."

- Himanshu, Gujarat

meetings held in village clusters to identify prevalent needs and concerns. For example in Maharajganj constituency of Uttar Pradesh, five separate public meetings were held across blocks of the constituency to develop a base list of aspirations. In the second stage, the overall demands were taken back to the constituency through a 'public hearing' or Lok Adalat involving representatives of the different communities and groups present in the constituency.

The media has been extensively involved in covering and reporting the proceedings across parliamentary constituencies thereby taking this process to a much wider audience. For example, in Etah (Uttar Pradesh) youth groups facilitating the process effectively used door-to-door campaigning, public hoardings, cable television and the extensive coverage provided

For the last 60 years, political parties have been setting the agenda of India which has become sectarian, evasive and is impoverishing the people.

The time has come for the people to assert their priorities and outline the political agenda of the country. We need to move forward from voter awareness to citizens' assertion. "

- Mazher Hussain, Andhra

by local newspapers to create a high level of visibility and enthusiasm for the development of the People's Manifesto in the constituency.

A Charter of Key Demands and a Women's Manifesto have been developed on the basis of demands that have emerged across parliamentary constituencies - with the objective of influencing the Election Manifestos of political parties and negotiating the integration of key demands in the post-election governance agenda. For more information, including details of Local Manifestos developed across parliamentary constituencies, please visit: www.peoplesmanifesto.in.

Constituency Speak:

- Speedy trial of atrocity cases against SC, STs and Women (West Champaran, Bihar)
- Social Justice committees to be formed in every village and given special powers (Junagarh, Gujarat)
- Gram panchayats to be provided agricultural funds directly and given the power to prepare annual agricultural budget plans (Gondia-Bhandara, Maharashtra)
- Legal status for Mahila Gram Sabha (Buldhana, Maharashtra)
- Corporatization of Education must not be allowed (Chittoor, Andhra)
- SEZ Act to be scrapped as it is against the spirit of the Indian constitution (Nagar Kurnool, Andhra)
- Allotment of land and housing for Dalits and other vulnerable social groups (Hajipur, Bihar)
- Stronger implementation of measures to stop female foeticide (Bikaner, Rajasthan)
- Illegal harassment by police of Muslim youth in the name of terrorism should stop (Hyderabad, Andhra)
- Dowry-free and Violence-free villages (Varanasi, UP)
- Youth University for Peace and Integrity (Nagaland)
- Better health facilities, particularly maternity health care, as we have only one Government Maternity hospital in whole district (Srinagar, J&K)
- Checking theft of ground water by the companies and recharge of the water table (Keonjhar, Orissa)
- Stop the illegal interference of Forest Department in the implementation of Forest Rights Act (Seoni, Madhya Pradesh)
- Appointment of doctors in the existing hospitals and health sub-centers (Kaliabor, Assam)

Key Demands of the All India People's Manifesto:

1. Basic Infrastructure: Water, Sanitation, Electricity, Roads & Transport facilities

- Basic Infrastructure in every village and urban settlement, which includes safe drinking water, household level toilets and water supply, effective drainage and sanitation systems, electrification, connecting roads, public transport services and rail networks.
- Special focus on upgrading infrastructure in communities inhabited by dalits, adivasis and minorities.

2. Quality Health & Education as a Right protected by Law

- Quality Health and Education must be guaranteed through public schools and health centres. The Right to Health and Education should be protected by law, primary level services made freely accessible and public facilities expanded and upgraded on a priority basis.
- Increased investment of 6% GDP for public expenditure on education and 3% GDP for public expenditure on health. Privatization of health and education services not to be allowed.
- Equip every village with quality facilities and personnel for maternal and child survival, nutrition and overall health. Create a separate Act to protect the rights of people living with HIV-AIDS and stronger implementation of the People with Disabilities Act.

3. Special measures to Ensure Food Security and Nutrition

- Every family to be assured of food supplies and nutrition, and protected against inflation and price hikes in essential commodities.
- Existing programs such as the Public Distribution System, Mid-day Meal and Integrated Child Development Scheme to be significantly expanded and monitored to ensure equal and universal coverage.

4. Expansion of Right to Work and Social Security entitlements

- 365 days of employment to be assured to every adult and an Urban Employment Guarantee Act on par with NREGA to be introduced.
- Make special efforts to integrate women and marginalized groups in the economic sectors, including through the provision of reservation in the private sector. Create a special program to support working women - including childcare facilities, transport, health insurance and maternity benefits. Child labour to be abolished.
- Strengthen the Inter-state Migration Act to ensure safety, minimum wages, housing and social security for all migrant workers in the country.

5. Lifeline programs for Agriculture and Rural Economy

- New agricultural policy to be introduced to ensure greater investment and industry status. Support prices provided to agricultural products at reasonable rates and local support centres for farmers, producers, entrepreneurs and artisans created to facilitate credit, research and technical expertise.
- Farmer status for women and mandatory purchase of goods produced by women and marginalized groups by government agencies. Special support program for artisans and small scale industries with objective of strengthening rural economy.

6. Protection of Land Rights and Promotion of Livelihood for Marginalized Groups

- SEZ Act to be scrapped and Land Acquisition Act used only for the development of public utilities. Transparency in all projects involving land acquisition and natural resources with participation of and accountability to local communities.
- Land to be earmarked and allotted to women, dalits, adivasis, denotified / nomadic tribes, single women, disabled and other socially excluded groups. All asset building, livelihood promotion and community development programs to necessarily involve joint participation and ownership of women and marginalized groups.

7. Greater Political Representation of Women, Youth and Marginalized Groups

- Women, Youth and marginalized groups to be made equal partners in the political process. The Women's Reservation Bill to be enacted on a priority basis and National Youth Policy to be strengthened.
- Social Justice Committees to be introduced in Urban Local Bodies and those already existing at the Panchayat level to be further strengthened with resources and programs to reach marginalized communities.
- National and State Commissions for Women, Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes to be strengthened with clear policies and resources. The Sachar Committee recommendations to be implemented.

8. Transparency in Government Dealings and Greater Public Participation

- Financial and operational details of all government programs to be made readily and regularly available in the public domain.
- Mechanisms for public participation and monitoring such as through the Right to Information, Social Audit and Vigilance Committees to be strengthened.
- Every government department and elected representative to be made to present an annual report of work done and expenditures incurred through a public meeting.

9. Electoral Reforms and Accountability of Political Parties / Representatives

- Prevention of candidates having criminal records or religious, casteist or communal sentiments from contesting for elections. Stringent action against representatives involved in corruption.

- An Election Watch team comprising civil society representatives and officials to be formed in every constituency and given due authority to monitor the election process. Monitoring of election expenses and creation a common platform for candidates to communicate with people to be undertaken.
- Right to recall system to be introduced and modification of the current 'first-past-the-post' system. Mechanisms for protection of women and representatives belonging to marginalized groups from harassment and discrimination across levels of governance.

10. Implementation of Police and Judicial Reforms

- Police and Judicial reforms to be undertaken with focus on responsiveness to marginalized groups and speedy redress of appeals. The D K Basu Guidelines to be implemented to ensure prevention of unlawful arrest and torture. Judgments on atrocity cases to be declared within one year.
- Greater representation of women and members of socially excluded groups in the police force and judiciary. Special protection for women from marginalized groups against caste and communal violence.

11. Priority for National Integration and Zero Tolerance for Violence and Terrorism

- National Integration and Communal Harmony to be prioritized and a Special Cell against discrimination on social or religious grounds to be created.
- The government must practice zero tolerance for religious extremism and terrorism in the country and play a key role in ensuring safety and prosperity in the subcontinent. A Joint Action and Investigative Agency for Regional Cooperation and Mutual Assistance in South Asia must be initiated.

12. Global Responsibility

- India must play a demonstrative role in protecting and promoting non-violence, democracy and respect for pluralism in the global community and in setting these principles in action through the UN.
- Even while being counted as a global power, India should continue to ensure that the development, trade and security interests of less powerful countries are represented in international negotiations.
- The government must publicize information within the country about the quantum and impact of its overseas aid and international development initiatives.
- India must play a proactive role in the formulation of global environmental policies and balance the interests of the developed and developing countries in this dialogue.

Women's Manifesto:

1. Equal Political Representation and Participation

- Implement the Women's Reservation Bill.
- Create a Women's Secretariat at the local level to provide support for the functioning of Women Elected Representatives and facilitate women's access public policies and programs.
- Create a separate 'Women's Grievance Redress Day' each month at the Panchayat / Ward Office to enable women residents to approach local authorities with their needs and problems.
- Prevent family members from representing women elected representatives and create special safeguards against the arbitrary removal of women 'sarpanches' / council heads.
- Make mandatory the representation of women in the composition of all Public Committees.

2. Equal Property Rights for Women

- Equal participation of women must be a pre-requisite in all asset building, livelihood promotion and community development programs.
- Enforce the joint ownership of land and housing and provide special incentives such as reduction of registration fees to encourage ownership of property by women.
- Enable women from minority communities to have an equal right to the husband's property after divorce and legal sanction to adopt children.

3. Right to Work and Entrepreneurship Support

- Farmer Status for women in agriculture.
- Equal Pay for Equal Work in all sectors and Reservation for Women in the Private Sector.
- Simplify procedures for women to open bank accounts and avail of credit; Loans taken under Mahila Rashtriya Kosh should be waived.
- Promote Women's Entrepreneurship and support women artisans & producers by making the purchase of women produced products by public offices and agencies mandatory.
- Prioritize the management of PDS and Fair price shops by Women's groups.

4. Priority for Girls' Education

- Make primary and higher education for girls free and compulsory, and protected by law.
- Ensure a primary school within 2 kms and a high school within 4-5 kms of every village, and develop Technical Institutes and Computer Education Centres at the Panchayat level.

- Enable the greater representation of women teachers at all levels and create a special package to promote the education of girls from minority communities.

5. End Violence against Women

- Ensure greater awareness of the Domestic Violence Act and its stronger implementation.
- Ensure sensitization of the police system to women's issues and induct more women into the force.
- Create Special Cells for Women in all police stations to enable and encourage women to use the law protection system.
- Create a Helpline for Women and special mechanisms to enable the police force and judiciary to quickly address cases of atrocities against women from dalit, adivasi and other marginalized communities.
- Provide special protection to women from minority and dalit communities against atrocities committed due to communal and caste tensions.

6. Special Programs for Women

- Allocate barren or community owned land to women's collectives to promote housing or livelihood, particularly for single, destitute and aged women.
- Create a special program to support working women, including crèche and childcare facilities, work to home transport, health insurance and maternity benefits.
- Check ongoing corruption in Maternal Health programs and make them easily accessible to women. Equip every village with quality facilities and personnel for maternal and child survival, nutrition and overall health.
- Enforce stringent measures to end female foeticide and under-age marriages; Promote the development of the girl child in all spheres of life.
- Support Women athletes and sports-persons from the local level itself; Create stadiums and facilities for women / girls at the district level.

7. Greater Access to Public Facilities and Public Places

- Ensure the availability of public and household sanitation facilities for women as a key factor in protecting women's health.
- Create separate recreational spaces and facilities for women.

8. Stronger National and State Women's Commissions

- Increase resources for women specific programs at all levels.
- Create women's policies at the state and national level outlining the development goals and targets for women in a time bound period wadanatodods Channel, video is very fine you have given good opportunities to us for listening, watching, sending our messages to public.

 my long wish is that corruption, groupism, minting money by wrong means, casteism, regionalism, over film exposes are to be removed from India.

 I would like a government that isn't led by any norms or partial ideals. I want a government that isn't scared to take actual actions against real criminals, whoever the criminals may be, and fast!!

i7x19 (2 weeks ago)
 OK, I can't vote being seventeen. But one thing that never comes out besides all the manifestos is the "specification". Leaders never tell how exactly, specifically, they are going to do all that they're going to do. They'll remove poverty, remove social problems, and all stuff like that, but how? When it is not specific, when it doesn't have a deadline - do they actually think they can accomplish that? There are a lot of educated people in the country, a lot of experts - we just need specific aims from the leaders and then we can discuss with the experts about how much feasible it exactly is - and if the party even has the ability to do it. Then it's more easy to choose, if not completely easy still. We don't need there random promises, we want to know how they're going to fulfil it - how "exactly".

LEAD INDIA '09

LET'S MAKE THIS VOTE COUNT

THE ALL INDIA PEOPLE'S MANIFESTO

Lead India '09 brings you the All India People's Manifesto, AIPM, an initiative of Wada Na Todo Abhiyan, a national campaign for governance accountability.

The AIPM is a 14-point agenda for the new government and is being created across 365 constituencies in 27 states and 2 UTs. Join the campaign to shape the nation's future. The AIPM can be the route to the change you want to see. The AIPM will be handed over to the new government.

Crafting the AIPM | Local manifestos being developed in public meetings in villages to identify top concerns. The demands are taken back to constituency through 'public hearings' or Lok Adalat of local communities/ groups.

Support for the Initiative:

Mohini Giri (Founder Chairperson, National Women's Commission):

"This is what I have been dreaming of over the last 40 years of my work. Through this effort we can achieve the dream of bringing people closer to democracy."

Gauhar Raza (Scientist & Film Maker):

"We are on the brink of one of the biggest movements seen in post-independence India. There is a need to rekindle the dream of a plural India and this effort finally makes it possible for hundreds of thousands of voices across the country to be heard."

Nandita Das (Actor & Director):

"Such initiatives are important because even the smallest action goes a long way in contributing to the change that we want to see in society. I want the government to uphold the pluralist secular democracy that we are and to ensure that there is no discrimination and no human rights violations."

Murali Karthik (National Cricketer):

"I request the youth to come out and vote in large numbers because it is us who needs to decide and choose our leaders. It is also our birth right.....Many good sports person are languishing because of lack of adequate support and facilities. So the next thing I want for any government that comes into power is to change that."

Kiran Bedi (Former IPS Officer and Social Activist):

"I have known this campaign for several months. The work being done to connect civil society on electoral and manifesto awareness is very critical because who we elect is important."

Govind Pandey (TV Actor):

"The government should not just make new promises, but also fulfill the promises that already exist. I want the government to ensure that in every single village in the country, girls have a right to be born and get education."
